

NEW HUNGER MARCH PLANNED

BEER AND ECONOMY TO BALANCE BUDGET IN SHORT SESSION

RELIEF TO FARMERS ALSO PLANNED EARLY IN LEGISLATIVE PROGRAM

BY CECIL DICKSON
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 24. (P)—A clearly defined legislative program, calling for beer and economy to help balance the budget, and for relief to farmers, has been adopted by democratic leaders for the brief December session of congress.

Plans for quick action on beer and farm relief were announced after conferences with President-elect Roosevelt in which it became known that he desires to "avoid an extra session after he takes office March 4."

As represented by those who conferred with him, Mr. Roosevelt holds as most important the balancing of the budget. He hopes, they said, that revenue from legalized beer and a reduction in government expenditures will make additional taxes unnecessary. But should the treasury deficit continue to mount, Mr. Roosevelt was said to be ready to meet whatever new tax situation arises.

He was represented also as specially anxious for farm legislation.

The democratic plan is to put through as much legislation in line with the president-elect's ideas and a new platform has been devised to avoid a special session. Extra sessions generally have been viewed as unsatisfactory.

Meanwhile, democratic leaders viewed the foreign debt problem closed for the present as a result of their conferences with President Hoover and President-elect Roosevelt. Their stand against a review of the debts cleared the way, they said, for devotion of the session to domestic problems.

Meeting informally yesterday the ways and means committee decided to open hearings December 7 on the revenue phase of the war bill. Representative Rainey of Illinois, the democratic leader, and Chairman Collier of the committee, who had conferred with

WIFE OF FORMER PRESIDENT CALLES REPORTED BE DYING

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 24.—(P)—Senora Leonora Lorente Calles, the young wife of former President Plutarco Elias Calles, was reported in a dying condition today with a brain tumor.

Ill for many months, Senora Calles was pronounced in a hopeless condition early this fall, and for four days she has been in a coma at the general's home here.

None but physicians and Mexico's "strong man" have been permitted near the bedside. The latest official information as to her condition came from the office of President Abelardo Rodriguez.

A presidential statement about midnight said Senora Calles was still living, but that her condition was desperate.

Senora Calles last appeared in public in January of this year during a vacation with her husband at Cuernavaca, Colima.

The first generally circulated information that she was seriously ill came when the general made a hurried trip from Mexico City with his wife last June. They went to Boston, where an operation was performed.

Senora Calles appeared improved and returned to this country with the general. Two months ago, however, hope for her recovery from the tumor was abandoned.

Senora Calles is the second wife of the general, having married him in 1920, three years after his first wife died.

Calles was 53 and his wife 27 years old when they were quietly married at his home near here. Two children have been born to the union. Calles is the father of nine children, by his previous marriage, all of whom are still living.

The second Senora Calles is the daughter of a former Yucatan government official, and well known in capital society.

ROOSEVELT FAVORS REGULAR DIPLOMATIC CHANNELS ON DEBTS

STATEMENT REGARDED AS DECLARATION AGAINST CREATING COMMISSION

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Nov. 24. (P)—Franklin D. Roosevelt arrived here today at 10:58 a. m. for a two weeks stay that will be marked by a series of conferences with congressional leaders.

By W. B. RAGSDALE

En Route to Warm Springs, Ga., Nov. 24. (P)—President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt says he believes "the most convenient and effective" contacts between the United States and Europe on the war debts can be made through the existing channels of diplomacy.

This statement, which marked the culmination of his active, two-day consideration of the war debt obligations, was regarded as a declaration against the creation of a commission to deal with debtor nations.

The statement, issued last night shortly before he arrived in Lynchburg, Va., on his way to a vacation in Warm Springs, Ga., reasserted his previously outlined position that the question of dealing with the Dec. 15 payments is one for President Hoover and the seventy-second congress to deal with.

The president-elect said the individual debtor should at all times have access to the creditor to put facts before the latter and to

LEAVE NEXT STEP IN DEBT PROBLEM FOREIGN NATIONS

CONGRESS AND PRESIDENT- ELECT BELIEVE PRESENT CHANNELS SUFFICIENT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—(P)—Despite President Hoover's advocacy of creating an agency to re-examine the war debts, indications today were that this government would do nothing, leaving the next step in the troubled situation to its foreign debtors.

Not only did Mr. Hoover's proposal meet with strong and apparently conclusive opposition by congressional leaders, but this opposition was backed up by a statement from President-elect Roosevelt that he believed existing diplomatic channels were adequate to hear new pleas from Europe.

Such an expression from the head of the incoming national administration, even though not intended as dictation to congress was interpreted here as effectively closing the door for the present to an American-initiated wholesale review of the $11,000,000,000 in obligations due this country.

While this situation was developing, Secretary Stimson handed to British, French and Belgian ambassadors the formal replies of this government denying their requests for an extension of the moratorium.

His action followed President Hoover's lengthy statement issued yesterday afternoon, which said "no facts have been presented by the debtor governments which would justify postponement of the December 15 payments of nearly $125,000,000. Mr. Roosevelt had full knowledge of this verdict before departing or Warm Springs, Ga."

PIONEER CORSICANA WOMAN DIED EARLY THURSDAY MORNING

Miss Elizabeth Lockhart, aged 75 years, pioneer resident of Corsicana, died at the home of her sister, Mrs. Boliver Smith, 611 East Tenth avenue, Thursday morning, Nov. 24, following an illness of a week with paralysis, and the funeral will be held from the Smith residence Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock with burial in Oakwood cemetery.

The services will be conducted by Rev. John W. Bergin, pastor of the First Methodist church, of which Miss Lockhart was a long-time member.

Miss Lockhart was a native of North Carolina but had resided in Corsicana practically all of her life.

Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Smith, Corsicana, and Mrs. Mary Campbell, Detroit, Mich.; a brother, R. M. Lockhart, Corsicana, and the funeral will be directed by the Sutherland-McCammon funeral home.

With the death of "Miss Bettie" Lockhart, a pioneer and well-loved Corsicana woman passes from the scene and many of the older residents of the city will be sincerely grieved at her passing. Since 1891, when she was several years ago, she has been a semi-invalid and had been a shut-in much of the time, but her happy disposition and bright outlook on life made her a pleasant companion at all times. Her hosts of friends will sorrow with her loved ones at her passing.

Madison, who had seen his White House and his capitol burned by the British in September, 1814, didn't wait until the next November rolled around to be appreciative of peace, but proclaimed a Thanksgiving Day on Thursday, January 12, 1815, celebrating the December 24, 1814, treaty of Ghent.

Not until another dire war did another president proclaim Thanksgiving. In 1863 Abraham Lincoln really started the annual Thanksgiving proclamation custom.

For the nation's mere existence, Lincoln was thankful.

"It has pleased Almighty God to prolong our national life another year," was the way his second one started, in 1864.

But by the next administration, Andrew Johnson in 1865 could give thanks that "we have been allowed to send our railroad system far into the inner recesses of our country."

Grant, in 1870, was terse and business-like about saying "It behooves a people sensible of their dependence on Almighty to acknowledge gratitude."

In marked contrast came the paean of Hayes in 1877 commencing, "The completed circle of dependence on Almighty."

SPECIFIC REASONS CAUSE AMERICAN PRESIDENTS TO ISSUE THANKSGIVING CALL

King of Flying Circus Leaps to Death In Hotel

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—(P)—While Thanksgiving usually is thought of as a day of gratitude for all things, big and small, American presidents have proclaimed it for very specific reasons.

In the words of Washington, Madison, Lincoln and Wilson, thanks were given for years of crisis safely passed. In the brevity of Grant, the studious sentences of Rutherford B. Hayes, the pithy passages of Theodore Roosevelt, years of prosperity were thankfully reckoned.

This year President Hoover incorporated George Washington's proclamation in his own. Washington issued two, the first, quoted by Mr. Hoover, celebrating in 1770 the adoption of the constitution; and in 1795 the benefits enjoyed under it.

Madison, who had seen his White House and his capitol burned by the British in September, 1814, didn't wait until the next November rolled around to be appreciative of peace, but proclaimed a Thanksgiving Day on Thursday, January 12, 1815, celebrating the December 24, 1814, treaty of Ghent.

FINANCIAL SUPPORT FOR SCHOOLS GIVEN STUDY BY TEACHERS

ANNUAL CONVENTION TEXAS STATE TEACHERS ASSO- CIATION IN SESSION

FORT WORTH, Nov. 24.—(P)—Texas teachers, feeling the pinch of the depression in their pay envelopes and in curtailment of activities of their schools, were assembling here today for their annual convention prepared to prescribe for the financial ills of the state's educational system.

To open their three-day convention, however, the 7,000 visiting members of the Texas State Teachers' Association, turned first to a Thanksgiving service at the First Methodist church, where they were to hear Dr. George W. Truett of Dallas and United States Senator Tom Connally of Marlin.

The serious financial condition of teachers and schools was due for early consideration. The executive committee, meeting last night, condemned as a system of payment by "hot checks" the issuance to teachers of pay warrants that cannot be cashed except at a heavy discount. It was protested as a practice whereby money is borrowed from the teachers to operate the schools.

The executive committee advanced the proposal that the legislature be asked to authorize school districts, where necessary,

INSURGENT LABOR DELEGATION GIVES UP AND GOES HOME

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 24.—(P)—Failing to "crash the gates" of the American Federation of Labor convention here, a band of 26 insurgent labor leaders headed today for their homes.

Led by Louis Weinstein of the Painters' Union of New York, the insurgents yesterday attempted to invade the Federation convention hall, but were turned back by locked doors and policemen.

Weinstein said his group wanted to demand federation support of "immediate" unemployment insurance, of a federation march to Washington recognition of the Soviet republic, and of plans to slash the salaries of federation officials.

Denied admittance to the convention hall, Weinstein said the group would "come back" again next year.

The convention was in adjournment today while the delegates temporarily set aside the weighty problems of economics and concentrated upon Thanksgiving observances.

Commenting on the insurgents' attempt to enter the convention, Louis Green, president of the Federation, said Weinstein's delegation was "an irresponsible group. We regarded their visit as an intrusion. Our meeting is for officers and delegates of the A. F. of L. and for visitors who care to listen to our discussions."

Weinstein's cohorts argued, however, that they were members of the Federation, but had been dropped for non-payment of dues, or quit of their own accord.

RIFT OCCURS IN JAPANESE-SOVIET FRIENDLY RELATIONS

JAPANESE MILITARY MIS- SION ASKED LEAVE SIBER- IAN LOCATION SOON

TOKYO, Nov. 24.—(P)—A rift occurred today in the heretofore friendly co-operation between Russia and Japan during the rebellion in Northwestern Manchuria.

This information came from Eiji Amoh, Japanese charge d'affaires in Moscow, who sent a Russian government communication to the foreign office asking that the Japanese military mission at Machevskaya leave Siberia soon.

The mission has been at Machevskaya to negotiate with the rebel Chinese general, Su Ping-Wen, who captured and held nearly 300 Japanese a few weeks ago when he took charge of a large slice of Manchuria against the soviet border.

Through the good offices of Russia, 120 Japanese women and children were released, and 42 more were reported set free last week, leaving about 100 still in the hands of Su's irregular Chinese troops.

The Russian request was handed to Amoh by L. M. Karakhan, vice-commissioner for foreign affairs, whose statement said the hope of negotiating with General Su was apparently futile. The soviet vice-commissioner asked the Japanese to stop using the airfield at Dauria, nearby, where supplies intended for the captive Japanese had been landed.

SCORES POLICE TO PROTECT GROUNDS AGAINST MARCHERS

HUNDREDS OF "HUNGER MARCHERS" IN CAPITAL DEMONSTRATION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24. (P)—A large police detail today dispersed a throng of spectators gathered in front of the White House apparently waiting for the approach of a delegation of "hunger marchers."

Carrying night sticks, the police guard pressed the crowd back along Pennsylvania avenue, virtually clearing the sidewalks in front of the executive mansion. Police cards or passes were required before any pedestrian was allowed to stroll near the tall iron fence shutting in the front of the White House grounds.

Crowds on the opposite side of Pennsylvania avenue also pushed back into Lafayette Park, and generally dispersed.

Extra police guards were stationed at each entrance to the White House grounds.

President Hoover had just concluded his luncheon and returned to the Lincoln study when the crowd was dispersed.

The child marchers were still gathered at a "pep meeting" a few miles from the White House, with no indication of when they would start.

MILDRED FARMERS STUDY CONTROL OF POULTRY PARASITES

MILDRED, Nov. 24.—(Sp.)—Ten members of the Mildred farmers' evening school, being conducted by L. A. Adams, teacher of vocational agriculture at Mildred, were present at the farm of T. V. Green and E. P. Ellis on Monday afternoon when the intestinal tracts of three chickens were opened to determine the presence of internal parasites. Round worms, tape worms and cecum worms were found in sufficient numbers to reduce egg production and cause emaciation.

The group arrived at two conclusions for the solution of the problem of internal fowl parasites, namely: Prevention through sanitation, and treatment of the infected birds. The following preventive measures were considered: Flushing the soil in the poultry yards three times per year, cleaning the dropping boards once per week, renewing the litter in the poultry houses once per month, cleaning watering vessels daily and keeping them in dry locations, the use of "real" type mesh hoppers in which one day's feeding is placed at one time and raising young birds away from mature ones. Tobacco dust, nicotine sulphate tablets or capsules, and tetrachlorethylene capsules were considered as treatment for birds having round worms while kamala capsules were suggested for control of tape worms.

Those present at the demonstration were T. V. Green, W. E. Vinson, L. A. Cunningham, O. E. Waters, E. P. Ellis, Carl McGee, P. Johnson, M. A. Wright, L. J. Martin and J. J. W. Wright.

While "farm relief" broadly encompasses any legislation of benefit to agriculture it has come to mean in the last 10 years a program to control surplus production and make the tariff applicable to agriculture as well as to industry. It is regarded as essential possible that the proposed conservation program would have been in Washington before December 5 will find the American Farm Bureau Federation holding out for the old equalization fee, a change for the export debenture and the new school of thought pulling for the allotment plan promulgated by W. R. Ronald, editor of the Mitchell, South Dakota, Republican, and associates.

It is conceded no group will oppose substitution of any one or all of the plans for the stabilization clause of the agricultural marketing act as administered by the federal farm board.

Under the allotment plan, the department of agriculture would estimate the probable production of a surplus crop, the probable domestic consumption and producers would be issued security certificates for the amount of the tariff per unit of measure allotted to them individually as their share of the domestic production. Example Given

Thus, if a farmer were accustomed to producing 1,000 bushels of wheat and the department found that the domestic market could absorb 800 bushels of his crop he would be given negotiable certificates of 42-cents a bushel on that amount in addition to the market price and the remainder would have to be sold at prevailing world levels.

The certificates, at first, would be paid out of a revolving fund established for that purpose by appropriation and later out of the accumulation of excise taxes collected from producers at the

He declared in opening that public worship, praise and thanks to God is as old as history itself. In this connection he cited the elaborate services mentioned in the Bible. Coming to the origin of Thanksgiving Day, Rev. Mr. Lenox told of a severe winter suffered by the colonists, of how they suffered privations, and went hungry due to crop failure, and were planning to have a day of intercession with God. Shortly before the service was to begin, a well laden boat arrived on the shores of the New World, and the day of intercession was turned into one of thanksgiving.

Should Offer Thanks.

The speaker appealed to the people to offer thanks to God for their blessings even in these depressing times, and especially "to get their hearts in tune with His, and to understand that the light of an angelic standard that might threaten," from extraneous influences.

After reading his text, and calling special attention to the words wherein God promised to keep His eye on Canaan, Rev. Mr. Lenox launched into a description of that land. He pointed out that the land was centrally located, and in a strategic position for the spread of words, it was productive, beautiful, and had one of the most outstanding forms of governments of its time. He said it was cared for and watched over by God.

"What did God have His eye on the land of Canaan?" the speaker asked.

That Canaan lacked only one point the commodity entered channels of commerce.

The plan contemplates placing a duty of 5 cents a pound on cotton and 2 cents a pound on hops and possibly embracing tobacco on which a duty would have to be fixed.

Since the Woodrow Wilson regime the Democratic platform has called for Philippine independence and farm groups, urging it as a quick way to assure import duties on vegetable oils which compete with domestic animal fats and on sugar for the protection of American beet growers, are said to believe the lame duck session offers at least an opportunity for the framework of immediate political freedom.

LIFE SENTENCE IS GIVEN DOCTOR FOR ILLEGAL SURGERY

OKLAHOMA PHYSICIAN CONVICTED CHARGE MURDER; ASKS FOR NEW TRIAL

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 24.—(P)—Life imprisonment for murder today sentenced Dr. Richard E. Thacker, 60-year-old former army physician, convicted last night of causing the death of Ruth Hall of Bethany by a criminal operation.

The twelve men on the jury, eight of them fathers, deliberated a little more than an hour, taking only four ballots.

Miss Hall, telephone company employee, died last April 15 after being treated by Dr. Thacker, who testified she came to him after an abortion had been attempted.

Dr. Thacker also is accused of murder in the death of Robbie Lou Thompson, telegraph company employee, whose sweetheart, Marvin Erdman, testified against Thacker, as did Frank Lee, former University of Oklahoma football player, and Francis E. Roach, whose wives died allegedly from criminal operations by Thacker.

The grizzled doctor maintained his composure at the verdict, but clenched his teeth as the clerk read the sentence.

Defense Attorney Ben Arnold said a motion for a new trial would be made on the ground that testimony of other such cases should not have been admitted in the trial.

District Judge John B. Ogden set next Monday for hearing the motion. If it is denied, the date for Thacker's commitment to state's prison will be announced then.

thing to make it "God's ideal country," was told by the speaker.

He averred that God admonished His people to keep His laws and commandments, and made promises of continued blessings if they would do so.

Life Too Easy.

"Israel never really enjoyed God's 'ideal country,'" Rev. Mr. Lenox continued, "because they became infatuated by the fatness and plenty, and lost themselves from the ideals that God set up, and He withdrew His hand."

Passing over the physical comparison of the United States, the speaker asked, "Are the eyes of Jehovah, our Lord and God, upon our land from beginning to the end?"

He pointed out that there are few prayers or addresses made in the present time lacking reference of the economic strife. He said it is a fact that there is a mingling of foreign spirit in this country that is contrary to God's ideals, and it has found its place in the hearts of the American people to the extent they have forgotten His commandments.

"If we fail to keep His statutes and commandments and fail to teach them to our children," Rev. Mr. Lenox went on, "what can we expect?"

Don't Serve God and Mammon.

"We can't serve God and Mammon," he said. "We've forgotten why the United States is a great to exchange views with foreign governments was building itself in Washington, the president-elect en route southward in a statement of his own said "I firmly believe in the principle that an individual debtor national should at all times have access to the creditor," and that the creditor "always should give courteous, sympathetic and thoughtful consideration."

To this he added:

"My view is that the most convenient and effective contacts can be made through the existing agencies and constituted channels of diplomatic intercourse."

Thus, while not closing the door to the future reconsideration of the debts, he placed his influence against Mr. Hoover's suggestion of a commission. With it, he reiterated that responsibility for dealing with the war debt situation rests until March 4 with the present republican administration.

Garner Expresses Views.

That the commission project was foredoomed seemed certain in the light of the congressional opposition which was expressed immediately upon Mr. Hoover's statement, and in the words of Speaker Garner:

"We convinced him (the president) that the comtee at the present time would decline to create any agency to discuss debts with foreign debtors."

Attention was given here to indications from London, however, that Mr. Hoover's views were interpreted there as leaving the way open for the argument for review of the debt problem, and that therefore the British government would present facts of this nature to the United States immediately. In official French quarters it was indicated France would nation, and some classes are reaching out their greedy hands and worshipping at the altar of Mammon, while thousands of others are starving."

Rev. Mr. Lenox extolled the plight of the "Mammon worshippers" when their shrine crumbles.

"Another shrine at which the people are worshipping," the speaker continued, "is that of Bacchus." He emphatically declared: "There are many God-loving and church-going people that would make the United States as wet as the Gulf of Mexico."

In this connection Rev. Mr. Lenox went on: "People are discussing the foreign debts, and many suggest that the country go wet, and pay the debts with wine and beer."

"Shall we teach our children the love and care of God, and to oblige His statutes, or let them be engulfed in atheism?" the speaker continued. He then quoted Benjamin Franklin as saying that a nation cannot be built without the hand and providence of God, and showed that Jefferson also recognized the need of God in building.

Concluding, Rev. Mr. Lenox declared: "Shall America fade from the earth, and leave a great nation to continue its greatness is to recognize the need of God's hand."

The benediction was pronounced by Rev. J. W. Bergin, pastor of the First Methodist church, and the organ postlude played by Mrs. McCammon.

At Least 2 Men Are Thankful For This Depression

BROWNSVILLE, Nov. 24.—(P)—Two Florida men gave thanks today as they started north—thanks for the depression.

E. W. Huggins and O. L. Whitley escaped from the Florida penitentiary, where they had been serving terms for automobile theft, and were arrested here. Florida officers were notified.

"No transportation funds are available," was the reply.

So the men were turned loose. "We are thankful for the depression," they said as they boarded a freight train north-bound.

follow the British course.

Mr. Hoover did receive approval from among those who sat in the extraordinary debt parleys, for his suggestion that in some instances payments in foreign currencies rather than dollars be accepted temporarily. Because of the general economic unsettlement on both sides, the president said, payment in dollars in instances might not be possible "without losses on both sides."

France Appears Be Ready Make Payment, Troubles Brewing

PARIS, Nov. 24.—(P)—France appeared ready today to make the December payment in war debt interest to the United States. If Great Britain meets her obligation in Washington on that date, but parliamentary complications were brewing.

Premier Edouard Herriot was represented as prepared to stake the fate of his government in parliament on the point. He failed to attend a meeting of the parliament yesterday, and the committee postponed discussion of the debt issue. This was taken as a sign of confidence.

But Deputy Franklin Bignon, for example, expressed astonishment that the committee had taken no action, declaring the question was now a parliamentary one in France as well as Great Britain.

Newspapers said they had learned a big majority of the chamber was opposed to payment of the December interest. Some deputies were insistent that the premier take no decisive step without a parliamentary mandate.

The premier and Lord Tyrrell, the British ambassador, talked for some time yesterday, presumably about the debt question.

"Excelsior," usually a well informed newspaper, said "it seems impossible under the circumstances that debtor governments will not consult together on technical measures to be adopted to prevent transfer of such important sums without the commercial counterpart affecting too severely their economic and financial balance."

Beer Revenue Estimate.

Collier estimated possible revenue from beer at $300,000,000 to $400,000,000 annually, and said he would favor the bill by Representative O'Connor (D., N. Y.) for a tax of $7.50 a barrel. He expressed doubt that the beer tax would enhance the budget, but that when "the sale of beer has been legalized, I want to get as much revenue as possible."

Speaker Garner, the vice president-elect, announced that the democrats would seek enactment of a farm relief bill and expressed the hope that it would be a non-partisan measure.

Plans to push such a measure were made following conferences between Mr. Roosevelt, Garner, Rainey and Chairman Jones of the house agriculture committee and other democratic legislators.

Rainey and Jones were designated to arrange drafting of a bill. Rainey said he would ask farm leaders to confer with him prior to the opening of congress and that hearings would begin during the first week after it assembles.

This basis of the measure will be the allotment plan, Rainey said, which would provide at least $250,000,000 a year for the farmers.

The anticipated reduction in the state apportionment through passage of the homestead tax exemption amendment, leaving to the legislature the necessity of finding new revenues if state aid to the schools is to be maintained at its present level, will give rise to 10 recommendations by the financial committee.

Income and Sales Tax.

The report of that committee, headed by Dr. B. E. Pittenger of Austin, will advocate restoration of school revenues by a state tax on personal incomes, a selective sales tax, equalization of assessment rates and abandonment of the scholastic basis of apportionment. It will recommend also that a state tax commission for schools be established.

The scholastic basis of apportionment of state school funds was branded as obsolete, and its abandonment was recommended as a step long advocated by school authorities for equalizing the educational advantages of urban and rural children. By the change small, less wealthy districts would receive proportionately greater shares of state aid.

He said he agreed with President Hoover on the four principles that the debts were actually made with the intention that they should be repaid, that the debts were to be considered individually, that the settlements should take into consideration the capacity of the debtor nations to pay, and that reparations had no relations to debts.

"Once these principles of the debt relationships are established and recognized," he added, "the methods by which contacts between our government and the debtor nations may be provided are matters of secondary importance."

"My view is that the most convenient and effective contacts can be made through the existing agencies and constituted channels of diplomatic intercourse."

"No action by the congress has limited or can limit the constitutional power of the president to carry on diplomatic contacts or conversations with foreign governments."

that the question of war debts had been reopened by President Hoover's statement about them, and that the British case for suspension of payment and revision may now be presented in full.

Meanwhile, the discussion of the situation overshadowed all other matters before members of the lobbies of the house of commons.

Foreign office officials were understood to be dealing with the debt question and a statement from Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, on the general situation was awaited in the house of commons.

Financial support for public schools was a subject for attention of delegates to the annual convention of the Texas State Teachers' Association here today. Recommendations for bettering the financial condition of the schools, proposed by a finance committee, included: a modern permanent state tax commission, a personal income tax for state purposes, a system of selective sales tax, equalization of assessment rates for school purposes and abandonment of the "obsolete scholastic basis of apportionment."

The report of the finance committee also took into consideration the recent amendment to the state constitution which exempted homesteads up to a valuation of $3,000 from state taxation together with its probable effect on school finance.

The executive committee, over which President J. A. Hill of Canyon presided, held a meeting last night, going over the association's educational platform.

In line with the general attention to finance, the committee discussed a proposed law which would authorize school districts to issue interest bearing warrants when they were unable to pay teachers salaries.

He served in various capacities with that organization and in other important posts abroad until 1925 when he was called upon to become assistant secretary of state at Washington.

Col. Olds subsequently was undersecretary of state, remaining in Washington until 1928, and in 1931, almost exactly a year ago, he was appointed a member of the permanent court of arbitration at the Hague. In 1929 he was made a member of the reparations commission under the Treaty of Versailles.

During the early post-war years in Europe Colonel Olds became a member for North America of the commission appointed by the 12th international conference at Geneva to report a plan for world organization of the Red Cross. He was American member of the arbitration tribunal appointed to adjudicate British American claims under the treaty of 1910 and he served as president of the board of trustees of the American Library in Paris.

Col. Olds took an active interest in civic affairs in Paris, especially pertaining to American phases, and was a member of the council of the International Chamber of Commerce there as well as one of the governors of the American hospital.

Negro Robber Taken At Amarillo After Desperate Struggle

AMARILLO, Nov. 24.—(P)—After staging two robberies and kidnapping one of his victims here last night, an armed negro bandit identified as Bert Hamilton, 26, McAlester, Okla., was captured by police in a desperate struggle.

Hamilton is in the city jail, facing a charge of robbery with firearms.

Adrian Herrin, service station attendant, was the first victim. He was handed a note by the negro which read:

"Give me your money and no fooling or it is too bad for you. Money is all I want—not your life but I don't care. I am hungry."

Herrin identified Hamilton, who later forced J. C. Dunn, garage man, to drive him away in a storage car after Dunn had been robbed.

Police in a scout car encountered Dunn and his captor. In a struggle after lives of two officers and the garage man had been threatened Hamilton was disarmed.

SPEAKER GARNER PREDICTS PASSAGE BEER BILL EARLY

BELIEVES BEER REVENUE AND CUT IN EXPENDITURES MAY BALANCE BUDGET

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(P)—Speaker Garner told newspapermen today that in his opinion "the house will pass a beer bill at the short session," but refrained from any forecast at the probable time.

Garner said also that with a beer bill and reduction in government expenditures it might be possible to secure a balanced budget without passing other forms of taxation.

Asked what percentage beer he favored, the democratic vice president-elect, said "within the constitution."

"About 2.75 or 3 per cent?" he was asked.

"Somewhere around that," Garner replied.

The speaker gave as a "guess" that legalized beer for revenue would bring in $250,000,000 to $300,000,000 annually.

Meanwhile at the White House aides to President Hoover said that President Hoover had declined to discuss beer legislation yesterday with Representatives E. B. Tamm, (R., Ill.) and J. C. McLaughlin, (R., N. Y.) and that neither affirmed nor denied that veto would be given any beer bill that congress enacts.

After meeting with the president yesterday, Mr. Tamm said he had taken up beer legislation with the president and predicted Mr. Hoover would not veto a beer bill.

HABEAS CORPUS TO PREVENT REMOVAL WASHINGTON STATE

MCKINNEY, Nov. 24.—(P)—Attorneys for Ed Bentz, charged with robbery with firearms in connection with the holdup of the State Bank at Blue Ridge, Texas, August 31, have asked for a writ of habeas corpus in an effort to prevent his removal to Washington state on other robbery charges.

Hearing on the writ was set for next Tuesday.

A deputy sheriff from Colfax, Wash., was expected to arrive today with extradition papers signed by Gov. R. S. Sterling. The deputy obtained the papers at Austin and went to Fort Worth, en route to McKinney, but had to return to the capital when he discovered they did not bear the governor's signature.

Bentz was taken in custody two weeks ago by McKinney and Dallas officers and placed in the Collin county jail here.

Pershing Back Home; Says War Soon Unlikely

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—(P)—Returning on the liner Manhattan after six months abroad supervising the work of the battle monuments commission, General John J. Pershing expressed the opinion that war in Europe is "unlikely." He declined to elaborate on the statement.

He said that the work of the battle monuments commission is now completed except for two caretakers' lodges. The commission has built three large memorials at Chateau-Thierry, St. Mihiel, and in the Meuse-Argonne; and eight cemeteries, each with its chapel, have been completed. In these cemeteries 35,000 graves have been marked with marble crosses.

General Pershing said he had been writing some additional memoirs treating chiefly with his life before the war.

Proclamations

of our summer and winter, seed-time and harvest, has brought to us the accustomed season at which a religious people celebrate, with praise and thanksgiving, the enduring mercy of Almighty God.

Most presidents concentrate on what the nation should be thankful for, but Grover Cleveland, centering on how to spend the day, put in this human touch: "And let there also be on the day thus set apart, a reunion of families, sanctified and cleansed by tender memories and associations; and let the social intercourse of friends, with pleasant reminiscence, renew the ties of affection and strengthen the bonds of kindly feeling."

Harrison, McKinley, Roosevelt and Taft gave thanks for an expanding America. Wilson's phrases were poignant of a world at war, and in 1918 he waited until after the November 11 armistice to say in thanksgiving: "A new day shines about us. Justice shall replace force and jealous rivalry among the nations. Both Harding and Coolidge spoke, almost with awe, of abundance of prosperity.

President-elect Roosevelt already in practice proclaiming his governor of New York, this year asked his people to pray: "Remember in pity such as are this day destitute, homeless, or forgotten of their fellowmen."

VALUABLE RADIUM THROWN AWAY WHEN ROOM CLEANED UP

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 24.—(P)—A $7500 needle was being hunted today in an ash heap at the American Oncologic Hospital, after a new cleaning woman swept $30,000 in radium into the incinerator.

Four needles containing the radium were thrown away. By the use of an electroscope, which gives signals when brought within contact with radium, Frank Hartman, a distributor, recovered three of the precious needles during the night.

The radium is used in the treatment of cancer.

The needles, each holding 12 1/2 milligrams, disappeared from the radium room of the hospital.

Wrapped in a felt-like material, which in turn was covered by a rubberized substance, with bandages gauze golded around the whole, the radium was lying in a table as the recently employed cleaning woman entered.

Although the radium room was not included in her territory, the overzealous woman proceeded to "tidy up."

To her inexperienced eyes, the handages with their costly contents, looked like merely pieces of discarded gauze, and with one flip of her brush she swept them into her dustpan, and then carried the radium outside with the remainder of the day's sweepings to be burned in the incinerator.

University Students Injured Brownsville

BROWNSVILLE, Nov. 24.—(P)—Juan Tijerina suffered a broken back and Paul Cavazos a possible fracture of the skull in the trial of seven Brownsville youths were riding overturned.

All were returning from the University of Texas to spend the Thanksgiving holiday with their families. The others were injured less seriously.

Alfred Cochran, who has been in the Navarro Hospital for several days, condition remains unchanged.

Mr. and Mrs. Rance Davis of Corsicana were here Sunday, visiting Mrs. Davis' brother, Alfred Cochran, who is seriously ill.

Mrs. R. C. Norwood and son, Richard Hiram, of Tyler, visited relatives here Saturday and Sunday.

The public school closed Wednesday night and pupils a chance to spend the Thanksgiving holidays at home.

Del Rio Woman On Trial Charged With Murder of Husband

DEL RIO, Nov. 24.—(P)—Seventy-five witnesses were in the Sixty-third district courtroom this afternoon as attorneys prepared to begin presentation of testimony in the trial of Mrs. Bessie Sharp, charged with the murder of Telephus Sharp, her husband.

The jury was completed just before noon and the trial proper was set to start at 2 p. m. Judge Joseph J. Taylor presided.

To read newspapers which had printed stories of the case or to discuss evidence they would offer.

Dallas Robber Takes Only Cash Belonging Store

DALLAS, Nov. 24.—(P)—At least one Dallas robber is rather choosy. He wants employers but not employees' money.

Three men held up a chain grocery last night and ordered employees to turn over the store's money.

"Give me only the store money," said the spokesman. "You can keep your own."

L. S. Culwell, an employee, handed the robber $80 he had just collected from another store, together with $4 from another pocket.

"I don't want your money," the robber reiterated.

In addition to the $80, the robbers obtained $126 from the cash register. Two other employees and a man customer were forced to watch the procedure.

The robbers fled in an automobile.

New Producer Hobbs Field Extends Area

SANTA FE, N. M., Nov. 24.—(P)—A new 20,000 barrel a day well in the northeast edge of the Hobbs oil pool in Lea county was described today by Dr. E. H. Wells, state geologist, as "the most promising development in the field."

The well, known as the Gypsy No. 1 Hardin, is being drilled by the Gypsy Oil company and is located on the southwest corner of the southeast portion of section 18, T. 10 N., R. 10 E., N. M. P. M. developed territory and is producing between 19,700 and 20,000 barrels of oil daily.

"The high type of structure on which the well is located," Dr. Wells said, "indicates that there may be some oil we have not known about. It is north and east of the present field and in my mind is the most encouraging of present developments."

Suburban Cicero Promised Probe of School Terrorism

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—(P)—Suburban Cicero, one time stronghold of Al Capone, today re-grounded with the promise that an investigation would be made of assertions that "hoodlum terrorism" had crept into the school system.

Chester Bragg, former president of the Berwyn real estate board, said a committee of citizens would demand the investigation and would ask an audit of the books of the J. Sterling Morton high school where most of the 8,000 students are in an uprising.

The students were aroused, they said, when 40 guards were placed over them in the halls to maintain order and because of the discharge of the head of the school cafeteria.

Parents said many of the guards were hoodlums and former saloonkeepers and that the discharged cafeteria manager was replaced by a former roadhouse keeper.

Frank Svoboda, president of the school board, said the whole thing was political propaganda. He denied that the guards were "hoodlums" and termed them "family men."

Besides, he added, there were only 16 persons employed and that number would be cut in half by December 1.

The cafeteria head, he said, was discharged because she operated the place at a loss. Also, he said, four teachers "responsible for instigating the agitation" would be discharged.

was involved in Su's rebellion against the new state of Manchukuo.

The foreign office spokesman said the Soviet had long exerted an influence in the Manchurian district west of the Kinkhan mountains, leading the Japanese to the belief that Moscow could have ended General Su's rebellion if it had desired.

Heretofore the highest Japanese officials including General Sadao Araki, the minister of war, had asserted they had no reason to believe the Soviet was involved in General Su's uprising.

It is understood Tokyo will ask Moscow to withdraw the request for the departure of the mission on the ground that there was still hope General Su would negotiate.

SOLSTICE.

The Moses of tomorrow will emerge from a cloud of factory smoke with a revised Decalogue, in which the ancient commandment will be made to read:

"Five days shalt thou labor and do all thy work, and on the sixth and seventh thou shalt rest."

But why substitute a fixed six hours for eight, and a compulsory five days for six. Is this what labor really wants? Or is the still unrealized objective a sort of work-as-you-please system under which the worker fixes his own working hours and the length
of his own working week?
H. G. Wells, in his novel
"The World of William Glissold," discourses on the subject as follows:

"I will confess I wish the ancient people who invented the week had invented
it longer and larger and with more than one day of rest at the end of it. . . .
I could do most of the things I have to do far better than in spells of from six to eight days of steady work, to be followed by three or four days of play,
gossip, laughter and rest.
I believe a longer week
would suit almost every one in a modern community
better than a Babylonian legacy. The freedom to get away that a longer week
would give the ordinary worker would revolutionize
the everyday life of labor."

Mechanization of industry will long defer such a desirable reform for the factory worker, but the office force of the nation is slowly adopting it. There are any number of persons who prefer an elongated week of labor followed by a prolonged week-end. It has the additional advantage of destroying that regularity and lock-step routine so conducive of despair and discontent.

PUNISHMENT.

Every series of particularly atrocious and widely advertised crimes sets the country once more to pondering the matter of capital punishment. There is much to be said on both sides of this controversy. The principal problem to be solved
is whether the death penalty is a successful deterrent.
It is a knotty one, since no
one knows how many crimes
have not been committed
through fear of the noose
and the electric chair.

One phase of the question on which both sides
can agree is that where life imprisonment is the maximum penalty less publicity
is given the crime of murder
and the wheels of justice
grind faster and, perhaps,
more fine. Where the law provides no death penalty,
the family and friends of the accused have no fear
for his execution, and as a consequence the country is spared the spectacle of delays, repudiation of confessions, testimony of alienists,
stories of newspaper sob-
sisters and other circumstances that have mocked
the courts. The morbid and crazy-minded are given little to read and little to inspire them to similar exploits.

This may not be the best way but it must be taken into account when courts are debating between the death penalty and life imprisonment, and when state legislatures are arguing the pros and cons of capital punishment.

We manage to keep Chicagoans fairly straight in our mind. Insult is the fellow without the scar.

Strange how many preachers seem to have run out of Biblical texts.

JUST FOLKS

RETURN.
The going back is difficult. The little house of old
Has lost the charm which once it had when we were young and bold.
For strangers live across the street and strangers dwell next door.
And though the road is much the same, our friends are there no more.

We loved it in our golden days,
when all its paint was new,
But now we find that going is difficult to do.
For wind and weather, time and
grief have brought about a
change,
And all the faces everywhere upon
the street are strange.

Time was when hap- mothers wheeled their babies up and down.
But now you'll find the brides and grooms live not so close to town;
And all the countless joys we knew, which proudly we recall,
Like us have moved away from
there and cannot be found at all.

The going back is difficult. However man may yearn
To find the scenes of yesterday,
he never can return;
For wind and weather, time and
grief will take their toll in
change.
And all the familiar haunts are tramped by people strange.

SAFETY REACHES ITS MAJORITY

The organized safety movement in America is coming of age.

It was born in 1912 to combat the appalling death
and accident rates then prevailing in many industries.
It has since expanded its usefulness so that it works
not only to protect life in the factory, but in the home,
on the highways, in the school
—wherever the risk of accident exists.

Its achievements are its monument. Despite vastly increased industrial production, fatalities have been cut
more than thirty per cent.
Factories which were once known as "human slaughter houses" are now safer
for the workman than is his home. Accidental deaths to children have been cut through the introduction of safety education into school curriculums. The number of children injured or killed by automobiles has dropped materially—but the adult toll of automobiles has jumped at a dizzying rate.

In this last field the safety movement has met its greatest obstacle. The highways are thronged with irresponsible, incompetent
and reckless drivers that last year claimed 34,000
lives and were responsible for hundreds of thousands of accidents. Safety on the highways can come only when automobile operators and executives—realize their responsibility and become "safety conscious." The organized safety movement
will have conquered its greatest enemy.

Discontinuance of the traffic light, in the business district here is not in keeping with the safety movement and will be a backward step in a community that was rapidly becoming
"safety conscious."

RICHES TO DISHES.

The press associations seem mildly excited because a polo, bridge- and golf-playing young member of the Guggenheim family is checking food in a Hollywood cafe to support himself. Those in charge of his $800,000 trust fund have cut him off, and he must eat.

It may make a man of him, even if he does think it a tragedy. A boy of 23 who has to make no more effort
for existence than indorse checks from his bankers will not likely amount to much except as a bridge and golf player; but a boy of 23
who has to work, however humbly to exist, may some day own the restaurant and
be an asset to his community.

The first cold snap of the year has further aggravated
the charity situation in Corsicana. The unfortunate must be cared for—fed,
clothed and given shelter.
The time is not far distant when Corsicana will have to raise some real money for charity. Everyone will have to give liberally and do his or her part in assisting the charity work.

"Beer by Christmas"—If such should come to pass
our belief in Santa Claus,
which has faltered considerably during the past three years, will be permanently renewed.

"OKAY, BUDDY! I CAN WAIT TILL THEY GET THROUGH!"

"FOUR FLUSHER."

Speaker Black, of the Canadian house of commons,
recognizes "four-flusher" as an epithet which one member may apply to another without being unparliamentary, but his inability to define the term is amazing.
Still more amazing is the indication that no member of the house of commons offered him enlightenment.

It is possible that this Canadian body does not contain a single individual who knows that, in poker, a fourflush is a bottled flush, therefore a bluff? Calling a man a bluffer isn't on a par
with language frequently used by legislators without proof. Neither is it half so effective as calling a bluff. But, to paraphrase an axiom, it is wise to be reasonably sure before doing so, either in cards or in politics.

LAUGHTER

Prof. Carl G. Gaum, of Rutgers College, has come to the assistance of laughter. In an address before the Mark Twain Association
he practically outlined an anatomy of laughter, grading all its forms and giving it the paradoxical dignity of a qualified intelligence test.

Puns he dismissed as "natural as baby talk." The giggle he termed inane but innocent. The snicker he re-veiled as debased and heartless. The chuckle he called a "gentle, solo" form of real laughter. The smile that comes in appreciation of satire he rated high. But the highest place of all he gave to laughter at jokes
on one's self, and the ne-plus ultra of that is what is vulgarily known as the "belly laugh," into which the laughter puts complete abandon and good will.

Classifying laughter is a humorous occupation, on the whole, but it is high time some one put a heavy and emphatic heel on snickering and giggling, and also high time wholehearted laughter, particularly at the pranks of fate on one's self received its just due. The principal point, however, is that there must be laughter,
fortified by both smiles and chuckles. Laughter is one human indulgence to which the old admonition, "Wisely, but not too well," does not apply.

Tom Mix, convalescing in a California hospital, treats
his latest riding accident as something of a joke. It was,
it seems, just a horse on Tom.

For that matter, many a true bill seems to be spoken in jest.

THE RULE OF REASON.

It has taken the United States supreme court to decide that the presence of a still in a man's house does not transform it into a distillery. The decision was made in the case of a Kentuckian convicted on the charge of running a distillery because he had a still.
The trial judge and the circuit court of appeals held that when a still is set up in a house the house can no longer receive the protection
given by law to a private residence.

The highest court has in this case insisted that the law does not warrant the interpretation put upon it by the lower courts. The rule laid down should check the activities of overzealous enforcement officers.

Grapes are holding up
somewhat better in price
than other produce, says a market item. We can only attribute this to the pressing demand.

An ocean liner sailing Saturday from New York set a new low, as only six first class passengers, and none of these an Insull, was aboard.

The flivver age has advantage, but it offers nothing to replace the horse shoe
nail as an emergency pants button.

AGED SAN ANTONIO WOMAN TORTURED BY MAN SEEKING MONEY

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 22.—(AP.)
—Tortured and brutally beaten
by a man who entered her home
early today to seek the hiding place of her savings, Mrs. Regina Wolfel, 74, survived an ordeal which left her unconscious
in her bedroom for more than two hours after the invader had departed.

The aged woman, battered and bleeding, finally regained her senses sufficiently to stagger to a neighbor's home and seek aid.
Mrs. Wolfel told detectives she was awakened by the sound of someone forcing a side window in her home. The intruder, a large white man, walked into her bedroom and turned on a light
before she could call for help.

"You keep quiet or I'll shut
you up for good," the man told
Mrs. Wolfel.

The woman was dragged out of her bed and asked about the hiding place of her money. She refused to supply any information and the man's next move was to cover her head with a small cloth sack which he carried.
She was then beaten unmercifully
by the man, who struck her repeatedly with his fists.
The torturer twisted her arms,
choked her and used every means of torture in an attempt to make her talk, but the aged woman remained silent.

The man finally despaired of his brutal task and threw Mrs.
Wolfel, unconscious, on the floor
of her bedroom.

Investigation later revealed that he removed $40 in cash from beneath the mattress of her bed.

METHODIST BOARD OF STEWARDS FORM
NEW ORGANIZATIONR. J. JACKSON IS NAMED
CHAIRMAN FOR SEVENTH
CONSECUTIVE YEAR

At an organization meeting of the Board of Stewards of the First Methodist Church Monday night, R. J. Jackson was unanimously re-elected chairman of the board for the seventh time. A. N.
Justus made the motion. J. S.
Murchison was elected the vice-chairman and R. A. Caldwell was elected secretary and treasurer.
W. E. Slaughter who served as treasurer the past year asked for his relief from this position on account of other duties. Mr.
Slaughter was given a rising vote of thanks and at his request an auditing committee composed of John Murray McGee and Geo.
Boyd was appointed.

The meeting was an enthusiastic one and was well attended.
Several motions were adopted
among them being one to the effect that each steward make a report monthly at roll call of the condition of his list and another was that the church be financed this year as last, and still another that every member regardless of age be urged to give something toward the support of the church. It was brought out that not over one-third were supporting the church.

The budget committee after due consideration, reported a budget for the new year that was unanimously adopted by the board. The budget was in keeping with the times, several short talks were made by R. J. Jackson, chairman;
J. S. Murchison, vice-chairman;
Dr. Bergin, pastor; Lawrence
Treadwell, J. N. Edens, S. J.
Jackson, Dr. Wilson David, Festus Pierce, Harry Clowe and others. Dr. Bergin expressed his delight in being sent back to First Church for the fourth year and pledged himself to do every thing possible to make this a good year.

The following committees were appointed: Apportionment, J. S.
Murchison, chairman; T. J. Walton, E. E. Babers, W. E. Slaughter, Boyce Martin, Geo. W. Boyd,
R. A. Caldwell. This committee will begin work Tuesday night at 7:30.

Budget—E. E. Babers, chairman; T. J. Walton, J. N. Edens,
J. S. Murchison, E. E. Babers,
W. E. Slaughter, R. J. Jackson and
R. A. Caldwell.

The following committee was named to appoint committees for the new church year: T. L. Edens, chairman; O. L. Smith and Festus Pierce.

Personnel of Board.
Following is the revised list of stewards for the year:
E. E. Babers, Chas. T. Banister,
T. H. Benton, E. G. Boardman,
Geo. W. Boyd, Guy Bunch, S. W.
Burdine, R. A. Caldwell, Dr. W.
W. Carter, H. A. Clowe, Jno. R.
Corley, Jr., Dr. Wilson David,
J. N. Edens, J. E. Fortson, John
T. Fortson, A. E. Foster, Clyde
Foster, Guy M. Gibson, L. I.
Griffin, Charlton Gunter, W. W.
Gage, A. E. Haglar, R. L. Houston, Chas. Holloway, W. M. Huff,

Dawson Bulldogs
Won Six Football
Games This Year

DAWSON, Nov. 22.—(Sp.)— Dawson Bulldogs concluded their conference schedule here last week end when they defeated the strong Wortham Bulldogs, 6-0, in a fast and well played game. The season will be closed in Martin Wednesday afternoon in a non-conference game with the strong Reagan team. Reagan has won six contests and lost one this season.

The Dawson Bulldogs have won six games and lost two during the season, scoring 157 points to 50 for the opposition. Joe Champion, quarterback of the local club, has registered 61 points in the eight contests.

In the Wortham melee, Champion scored the lone touchdown
of the game in the first quarter
when he broke through the line and ran 40 yards for a touchdown. Wortham seriously threatened in the third quarter when the ball was advanced to the Dawson one-yard line where Dawson stopped the visitors.

Loveless, E. Farmer, Walkup
and Champion were stars for Dawson, while Cashion, Zoda, Henderson and Magness were outstanding performers for the Wortham eleven.

E. C. Lee Asked Be
County Chairman For
C. M. T. C. Activities

E. C. Lee, reserve officer in the U. S. Army, has been asked by Col.
Ralph H. Durkee, civilian aide to the secretary of war for Texas, to accept the post of county chairman for C. M. T. C. activities in Navarro county for 1933.
Mr. Lee has indicated that he will accept the post and blanks
and information are expected to be available shortly after Jan. 1.
It was announced that character
would be one of the main prequisites for entry in future activities of the Citizens' Military Training Camp program and that it was hoped that boys would regard it as an honor to be able to attend the summer sessions.

Long-Time Resident
Of Corsicana Suffers
Stroke on Friday

The many friends of Miss Bellie Lockhart, Mrs. Eugene Smith and Mr. Bob Lockhart were deeply grieved to learn that Miss Lockhart suffered a paralytic stroke last Friday. She is reported resting as well as could be expected. Mrs. Mary Campbell, their sister from Detroit, is expected to arrive Wednesday to be with her.

MILD EPIDEMIC
OF DIPHTHERIA IN TWO COMMUNITIES

A mild epidemic of diphtheria
has been encountered in the Em-house and Blooming Grove communities and there is some smallpox found in the Rice community, Dr. Dan B. Hamill, Navarro county health officer, announced Tuesday. One death has been caused by diphtheria.
The county health officer urges all parents to have children between the ages of six months and 10 years immunized as this treatment is successful in 96 per cent of the cases, and a child immunized is immunized for life.
He said the immunization process was different from the treatment accorded exposed children.

Dr. Hamill said there was scarcely any ill effects sustained by a child in the diphtheria immunization treatment, much less than in the vaccination for smallpox.

RED CROSS DRIVE FOR MEMBERSHIPS TO BE CONTINUED

FIELD WORKERS EXPLAINS SITUATIONS AND GIVES RE- SUME OF RELIEF WORK

According to Johnny Garitty, county roll call chairman of Navarro county Red Cross chapter, and his co-chairmen, J. S. Murchison and Miss Ethel Mae Tatum, it has been decided to continue the roll call solicitation beyond Thanksgiving Day and until we have secured a sufficient amount to carry on our work as it must be done." Mr. Garitty said.

The past year we have done a great deal of work on a very small amount of money, but up to the present time we have not been able to collect even that small amount and we are far from our quota of 2100 members. We cannot stop until we have done better than that."

Mr. Murchison and Miss Tatum report that the reports in at the present time total but $841.48, representing 700 memberships, of which $85 are annual or $1.00, 11 are contributing or $6.00, 3 are supporting, or $10, and one sustaining or $25 membership.

Mr. Murchison says some of our workers have been most helpful and have done a good job, but we need to see more people and we are going to do it.

Women's Division. Miss Tatum reports some of her workers in the residence and both canvases have been very successful, but she says, "We have not yet fulfilled our objective of giving everyone in our community an invitation to join the Red Cross. Difficulties from the Red Cross is a membership organization and $1.00 or more makes one a member of the Navarro county chapter and the national organization as well. It is a privilege to belong to an organization that means what the Red Cross means in this nation."

For a couple of days the national field worker for Texas, Mrs. Edith Hennessey, has been in the chapter working and for the distribution of the cotton material and garments that will soon be brought into Navarro county by the Red Cross chapter for distribution. In speaking of this situation, Mrs. Hennessey says:

"Our communities and chapters are faced with more serious relief responsibilities this winter than at any time since the war and the part that the Red Cross plays in this relief program both locally and nationally is becoming increasingly valuable and necessary."

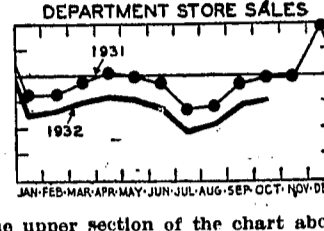

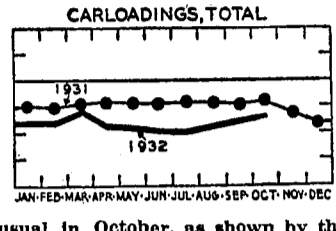

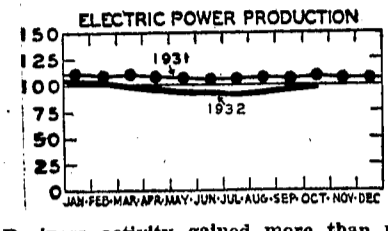

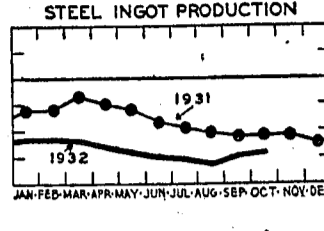

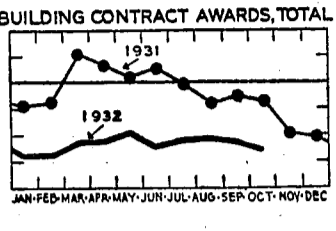

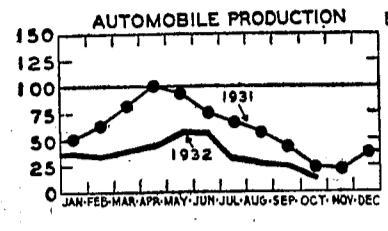

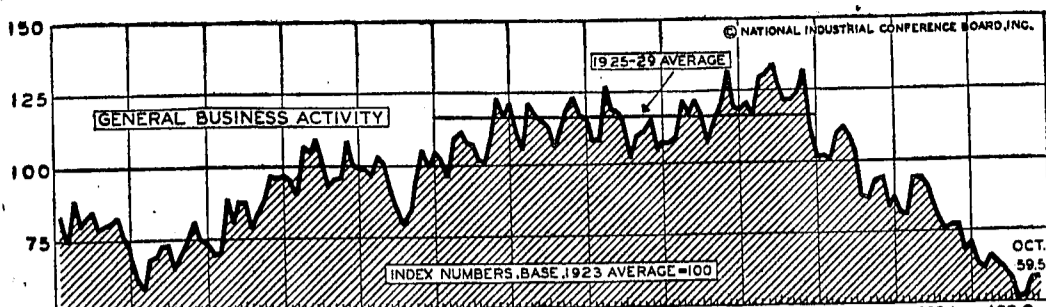

Called on By Congress. "Because of the Red Cross is the only organization in the United States equipped to handle such a project it was given last spring by act of congress, 85 million bushels of wheat to be turned into flour, and 500,000 bales of cotton to be made into cloth and garments and distributed to the poor and needy through our chapters all over the United States—over 80 of them. The chapters in Texas, divided these commodities with the other relief agencies in the county for distribution. The chapters thus became in most communities the largest contributors to the other relief organizations within their territory."

"To accomplish this vast task without unsettling our milling and textile industries, whose services were paid for in wheat and cotton, and to make certain that the distribution of these commodities was equitable in every little hamlet in the United States has taxed our abilities and our resources as well for it has cost the Red Cross national office thousands of dollars to do this."

Much Local Aid. "Through the Navarro county chapter there has already been sent into the county approximately $800,000 pounds of this flour, which at prevailing prices represents $7600, and more will be available to meet the winter's demands. Up to July 1 this had been distributed through Red Cross county committees, the local United Charities and the Salvation Army to approximately 2400 families. Of these the United Charities served 710 families, and the Salvation Army 593. Nearly 200 counties in Texas have been aided in this way through their chapters, and the communities relieved of from 18 to 25 per cent of their relief burden, as this item normally constitutes such a percent of their budgets."

"Cloth and clothing is likewise being requested from the national organization, approximately 28,000 yards, which at a minimum cost of 10 cents a yard, represents an additional $2800. This

BUSINESS TRENDS—Curve Continues Upward

Business activity gained more than usual in October, as shown by the upper section of the chart above which portrays the swing of business since 1920. The smaller charts show what happened in separate industries during 1931 and thus far in 1932.

(By The Associated Press.)

General business activity in October continued its more than usual advance, although the rate of improvement shown in August and September was not maintained, the Conference of Statisticians in industry reports.

The conference, opening under auspices of the National Industrial Conference Board, found also that the "tendency to increased activity in the heavy industries" was continuing. Improvement in heavy industries is held essential to fuller business revival since they are basic to all industry.

"Productive activity in October will meet a crying need this winter and relieve the local communities of a great burden of supplying this demand from local resources. It is only through the support given the national organization through the annual roll call that such services are made possible to our communities."

Disaster Relief. "After such experiences as the Frost tornado and the drought relief work of 1930-31, Navarro county does not need to be reminded of the services of national Red Cross as at these times, still so recent, the organization came with thousands of dollars to relieve the suffering and to rebuild hopes as well as homes for hundreds of victims, whose needs the local communities could not meet."

"Last year the national organization aided in 62 disasters in the United States. Many more extensive than the Frost tornado and several of them in Texas. In fact, since the Frost disaster, the organization has spent in Texas alone $481,000 from their disaster relief fund. It does not take much figuring to see how many more than the usual number of memberships at the small sum of 50 cents a member will be necessary if the organization is to continue to meet such serious demands for aid to suffering humanity."

Aid to Disabled Veterans. "The chapters share with the national organization the responsibility given it by congressional charter of caring for disabled ex-service men. In Navarro county this work is being splendidly done by our executive secretary, Mrs. R. B. Mitchell, whose service deserves the hearty and generous support of all those who are interested in the social welfare of the community. Through her faithful and untiring efforts thousands of dollars have been secured for men now wholly or partly disabled because of their war service, and in many cases, would have become charges on the community without this assistance."

"In addition to the benefits derived by the men and their dependents from this source, there has been the larger benefit of money put in circulation within the county that would otherwise not have been available. Profitable Investment. "Thus, if for no other reason, your Red Cross secretary has been a profitable investment to the community. She has worked on 165 of the cases this year, and in the majority of cases, claims, large or small, have been awarded, bringing continuous monthly payments to the disabled man."

"This has amounted to approximately $4500, in addition to the monthly payments still continuing from previous awards secured. This is a technical job, requiring much knowledge of federal laws, regulations and procedures, much skill in assembling the necessary information and much patience to endure the reported delays and discouragements before a successful termination of the case."

"The claims work is but a small part of her services to be sure, as there are the multitude of family problems, of illness, of domestic difficulties of delinquency and of poverty that are to be met and adjusted in so far as is humanely possible."

"It is unbelievable that the people of Corsicana and Navarro county will permit their Red Cross services, local or national, to be handicapped through failure to respond to the Roll Call. The national office is certain this will not happen in Navarro county."

In speaking of the work ahead, Rev. H. J. Ellis, chairman of the chapter, concludes: "We believe that the value to this community and county of Red Cross services has been so well demonstrated that we need only to bring our needs to the attention of our citizens to have their support. We are asking each and every one of you to help in this service that is distinct from any other in our community and cared for by no other organization. While a dollar makes you a member of the local and national organization, it is the larger contributors that help our local work the most, since only 50 cents of each membership however large goes to the national fund, while all the rest is used at home. Consequently we bespeak as large a membership as you can give, but at least a dollar from everyone."

but not as much as was to be expected."

Carloadings increased more than seasonal. Department stores sales were about normal. Five and ten cent store sales dropped more than usual. The report on commercial failures was favorable. During the first half of November commodity prices firmed after falling in October.

Employment in manufacturing industries in October increased more than usual, and continue the upward trend initiated in August. Hourly earnings declined, hours worked per week increased, while weekly earnings increased.

COUNTY CLOTHING COMMITTEE FORMED DISTRIBUTE CLOTH

GOVERNMENT CLOTH TO BE GIVEN OUT UNDER AUSPICES RED CROSS CHAPTER

The Navarro county clothing committee is the name of the central agency organized Wednesday afternoon in the county court room of the courthouse to function in the distribution of government cloth and ready-made garments for which requisition is being made under the auspices of the Navarro county chapter, American Red cross. It will be remembered that on July 5, 1932, President Hoover approved the act of congress authorizing the transfer of 600,000 bales of government-owned cotton to the American Red Cross "for use in providing cloth and wearing apparel for the needy and distressed people of the United States and territories."

Mrs. Edith Hennessey of national Red Cross headquarters, was present to explain the responsibilities of the committee to be assumed in this connection and the general plan or "set-up" necessary for the authorities to approve applications for this relief. The organization and the actual functioning of a central committee is one of the requirements.

Representatives present at the organization meeting were Rev. H. J. Ellis, chairman of the local Red Cross chapter; Mrs. R. B. Mitchell, executive secretary; Judge H. C. Nash, W. P. McCammon, chairman of the Corsicana unemployment relief committee; Mayor Wesley Edens, chairman of the Salvation Army board; R. Hamilton, chairman of the United Charity association board; Mrs. Earl Ellis, and G. W. Jackson, chairman of the colored community center. The various chairmen of community committees over the county will be members of this central committee and will be invited to attend the conference meetings that will be necessary to be held from time to time.

Mrs. Earl Ellis, Chairman. The appointment of Mrs. Earl

Ellis as chairman of the clothing committee was unanimously approved and the formal application for 26,000 yards of cloth for Navarro county was made. This requisition was based upon a careful, individual survey in each community in the county and reports from all relief agencies operating in Corsicana as recently made to Mrs. R. B. Mitchell, executive secretary of the local Red Cross chapter.

This survey disclosed that 1347 families, about 6280 individuals, in Navarro county were in dire need of clothing.

A similar application for ready-made garments such as hosiery, underwear, trousers, overalls and jumpers will be made at an early date.

Mayor Edens and Messrs. W. P. McCammon and Hamilton were appointed as a committee to secure a suitable room to be used as a central cutting and sewing room here. As soon as this is secured, Mrs. Ellis will begin active preparation for work. A large corps of volunteer workers will be needed and the various committees that desire to operate their own community work rooms will be awarded their quota of material.

Types of Cloth Requested. The types of cloth requested and the proportions were 35 per cent prints; 10 per cent light outing, 15 per cent dark outing, 25 per cent shirting; 10 per cent muslin, and 5 per cent birdseye.

There are 19 community chairmen outside of Corsicana—covering all the principal towns and their trade areas—whose co-operation in the clothing distribution has been solicited and secured. They are J. Floyd Smith of Dawson; Mrs. W. V. Harrison, Frost; Homer Carroll, Kerens; H. W. Stepp, Richland; John B. Jones,

Blooming Grove; Mrs. O. K. Vinson, Navarro; Mrs. R. W. Venable, Barry; Mrs. Claude O. Williams, Purdy; W. B. Payne, Fursley; Claude Hervey, Rice; Lee Hearn, Emhouse; R. L. Campbell, Powell; J. K. Hawthorne, Winkler and Birdston; A. F. Roman, Corbet; Mrs. Jim Mitchell, Chatfield; L. B. Bonner, Eureka; Mrs. Sam Rogers, Mildred; Mrs. J. F. Jackson, Angus; and Jack Megarity, White's Chapel.

Each chairman has a committee of responsible and representative citizens in his or her community to assist in the relief problems arising in this connection and each family handled will be passed upon by the committee as a whole. Most of the people selected are also serving on the Red Cross committees for the government flour distribution, and are thoroughly experienced in Red Cross procedure in relief work of similar character.

For those rare, and decreasing, people who can spend large sums of money on beauty, there are weekly news stunts. Some are just pleasant tricks, but others are valuable. Beauty specialists are going to the doctors who know all about skin troubles and who have genuine skin blemishes. A pity more beauty seekers don't go to the doctors, rather than the beauty shops! A fine lotion, or cream (doctors prescribe it both ways) inky black and highly soothing and antiseptic, which specialists have prescribed for many years for bad complexion, has been kept into the beauty shops. You can buy it (them rather) for there is more than one sort. Or your own doctor will probably write you out a prescription, and then laug at you for your vanity and tell you a bland soap and water is very good indeed.

You can have medicated baths for your scalp, done with steam and electricity. And make a mask, rather, to fit your own face, through which electric rays of healing quality go, along with creams and such, to clear and beautify your skin. You can have pounds rubbed and hosed off one part of you, and gently massaged and coaxed into another.

Oh, well, you can do pretty well for yourself at home if you haven't a lot of money. An antiseptic skin bath—here you are! Mix powdered flower or sulphur with oil until you have a paste. Rub some on your skin, bend over a basin of water and steam your face. You open the pores, the sulphur goes in, and does lovely things to your skin, and cures the nastiest pimples too.

Try it far your scalp. Sulphur ointment as prescribed above. Then towels wrung from hot water, rolled over your head, and must be renewed, and in fact, dry ones should be put over them, for a hot wet towel goes cold and clammy in no time. Or, sit with your head by the open door, with the heat on, and let the heat never let the sulphur get anywhere help that sulphur work in. But near your eyes, for it makes them swell.

Nellie F.—A henna rinse may be all that is needed to brighten the shade of your light brown hair, and if it does not do this, take a henna shampoo and leave the henna lather on your hair for 15 to 30 minutes before you continue with the lathering. It requires some experimenting before you know just how long a time it takes for tinting, since some hair takes longer than others, as fine hair will take less time than coarse hair generally.

Ways and Means Committee To Discuss Beer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Representative Rainey, the house democratic leader, summoned available members of the house ways and means committee to a meeting today to discuss means of expediting beer legislation. It was expected that at least eight or ten of the committee's 25 members would be present.

"I am not certain just what the ways and means committee can do regarding a beer bill," Rainey said. "Already there is a tax on beer. It seems to me that beer legislation is simply a question for the judiciary committee to handle by an amendment to the Volstead Act."

"Then the present tax could apply to all beer legally sold," Rainey said. He was anxious for beer legislation at the earliest possible time. The democratic house leader, who had participated in conferences with President-elect Roosevelt, was asked if the governor had urged passage of the beer bill this session.

"Mr. Roosevelt can speak for himself," Rainey replied.

Rainey said he concurred in the prediction of Speaker Garner that the house would pass a beer bill this session.

PRO PRESIDENT OKLAHOMA BANK IS ONE BATTLE-VICTIMS

THREE ROBBERS, TWO WHITE, RIDDLED WITH BUL- LETS AT BOLEY TODAY

BOLEY, Okla., Nov. 23.—(P)—An invasion of this all-negro village by two white bank robbers ended today in a roar of gunfire that left a negro bank president dead, and the robbers and their negro accomplice dead or dying.

Shot down by one of the white robbers when he pulled a hidden burglar alarm, J. Turner, president of the Farmers' and Merchants' State Bank, died on the way to a hospital at Okemah, 14 miles away. But the killer fell in turn before the fire of a negro bookkeeper and the man's companions were riddled by the bullets of a score or more enraged negroes.

Parking their motor car near the little bank, the white robbers sent the negro inside to present a check. While it was being refused by W. Riley, the cashier, one of the white men entered and slipped into the cage, poking a pistol in the ribs of President Turner, also in the enclosure.

Unnoticed, H. C. McCormick, the bookkeeper, had edged into the vault where his rifle hung.

As the second white robber entered the cage and began to search up about $700 in cash, Turner reached under a desk and rang a burglar alarm.

"Did you pull that alarm?" shouted the first white robber. "Then I'm going to kill you," the robber cried, leveling his pistol.

As he fired, McCormick, from the vault, pulled the trigger of his rifle. Turner and his killer sank to the floor simultaneously. The second white man took charge as a menacing crowd of negroes ran from every part of the bank to the front of the bank.

Ordered Riley and Horace Allen, a customer, to carry the wounded robber to the motor car. Second White Robber Slain.

Just as they started for the door, a fusillade sounded from outside and the second white man dropped.

Meanwhile, the negro robber, leveling the motor car, was half way down the street. Every weapon was turned on the machine and the driver, mortally wounded, threw up his hands. The car plunged into the street and stopped.

The loot was recovered where it was dropped, in the bank, when the second white robber fell.

When ambulances from Okemah removed the dead and dying, one of the white robbers was reported still alive. None was identified.

Boley is one of several all-negro communities in Oklahoma. It has about 800 residents.

NOTHING DEFINITE COMES OUT OF WAR DEBTS CONFERENCE

SHORT STATEMENT ISSUED AFTER PRESIDENT AND PRESIDENT-ELECT CONFER

By JOHN F. CHESTER
(Associated Press Staff Writer).
WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—(P)—The possibility of an administration-sponsored effort to reach compromise on Europe's demand for war debt relief arose today as President Hoover renewed his assault upon the tangled problem, summoning to the White House congressional leaders of both parties.

Out of the chief executive's extraordinary consultation with Franklin D. Roosevelt—from which the president-elect departed without commitment—there emerged last night a statement attributed to the administration that England would make no debt payments to the United States after Dec. 15 unless her plea for reconsideration is met.

With this was coupled a reported suggestion from the president that the war commission be revived to initiate a thorough study of the subject—a course which has been vigorously opposed in congress, where rests the final word.

As the 13 senators and representatives invited to this morning's White House parley gathered, and as the president-elect turned to meetings with his political allies, the impression gained headway that Mr. Hoover might propose as a compromise the re-examination asked by Europe, with no extension of the one-year moratorium.

The swirl of war debt talk yesterday swept from the fire-lit quiet of the White House red room to the smoke-filled hotel room of the New York governor, where at midnight he talked with Democratic chieftains from Capitol Hill.

There, the president-elect was reported to have told his conferees that Mr. Hoover and Secretary Mills had informed him that Great Britain would meet its December 15 payment of $95,000,000, but would demand a new study of the question before paying further. Should refusal to pay ensue the administration was pictured as forecasting an extremely grave situation.

It was indicated that the chief executive had maintained this nation should make a rigid stand toward the payments due it three weeks hence. Italy among the major debtor nations has refrained from asking suspension of them.

Roosevelt's reply to the president's reported declarations was described as a disavowal of responsibility for debt policies until he himself assumes office on March 4.

Further, in his midnight round-table conference the position of the president-elect was outlined as one of not dictating to the Democrats in the senate and the house until his administration begins.

CONGRESS MAY BE ASKED AID WANDERING ARMY ON HIGHWAY BY FORMER CAPITAL OFFICIAL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—(P)—Congress soon may be asked to help the ragged young fellow that trudges along the highway or sneaks a ride on a freight—a wandering boy out of a job.

Government officials say that never before have so many young men, hungry and ill-kept, been subjected to the harsh and bruising contacts of life on the road.

Work for the wanderer is hard to get, they add. Communities have all they can do with their own needy. The coffee, bread and beans of charity are running low.

Convinced that this life of struggle cannot but leave a scar, the national capital's former chief of police—Brigadier General Pelham D. Glassford—plans to take the world problem to congress and seek a federal appropriation.

"It is estimated that there are close to one million of these wandering men and boys now on the road," he said in consenting to head a movement for their relief.

"Fully 90 per cent of them are under 35. Some 200,000 are mere boys."

"These young men, most of them from respectable and substantial families, have been cast loose from their jobs and homes by the depression. Right now they are swarming over the South, Southwest and the Pacific Coast. The individual states cannot afford to care for them from their own relief funds."

"Being forced to wander as they are, they soon will become broken in health, or diseased, unemployed and in many cases criminal or degenerate."

Newton D. Baker not long ago warned America that "Youth cannot wait for a return of better days."

The former secretary of war urged communities to provide for health, education, recreation and character building as well as emergency relief, asserting: "The past has shown us that crime, ill-health and loss of morale are expensive."

The children's bureau of the labor department, by suggesting ways of making home more attractive and the road less so, has undertaken a campaign to keep youths under 21 years from joining the vast hobo army.

The F. P. McElwath construction company finished its contract on Highway 31 from Corsicana to the line of Consolidated road district No. 1 two miles east of Powell, Saturday. This 20-foot slab has been opened in some sections and will be open for traffic to the district line Dec. 3.

The Union construction company, holder of the contract for the paving from the district line to the Trinity river bridge via Kerens, is pouring the 20-foot slab in that section and is expected to finish the contract by January 1, 1933. The highway has been poured from the Trinity river bridge to a point near Kerens. As soon as the slab is completed to Kerens, the company will begin pouring of the slab at the district line two miles east of Powell and finish in Kerens.

Contractors in Henderson county completed the slab from Trinity river east to the district line early in this road will be opened early in December. All that remains for a paved highway in East Texas on Highway 31 from Corsicana is the strip in Kerens area now under construction. The highway from Athens to Tyler has been completed and is now in use.

Placing Crushed Rock.
The state highway maintenance department has made good progress in the placing the crushed rock treatment on Highway 31 from the end of the Fursley slab to Dawson. The rock has been placed on the entire distance except about two miles from Bates creek east.

Coring at the site for the Trinity river bridge on Highway 22 east between Corsicana and Palestine has been completed and the coring machine is now making tests for the Chambers creek bridge on the same highway.

As soon as the coring has been completed at Chambers creek site the plans and specifications for the plans and specifications for the Highway 22 from the line of Consolidated road district No. 1 east of Eureka to Trinity river have been checked in Austin and are expected to be returned to the local state highway office in the next few days for inking in.

The inking of the plans will require about three days, Mr. Bowers said, and the plans will be returned to state highway headquarters and will be ready for the advertising for bids at the December session of the Texas highway commission.

Work on the paving of the Navarro Cheneyboro lateral road from Navarro to Cheneyboro, one of the optional laterals under the original bond issue, was reported started Wednesday morning by the F. P. McElwath company. This is a 9-foot lateral and the dirt and drainage structures were completed several months ago. The McElwath company also has the contract for the 9-foot slabs on the Corsicana-Oak Valley, Black Hills and Emhouse roads. The four optional lateral contracts aggregate approximately 16 miles of 9-foot slab.

The plans and specifications on highway 22 west from Corsicana to Ellsboro are reported practically completed, but local engineers and officials decline to hazard a guess on when actual work on this section will begin.

DEATH PENALTY OF AUSTIN COUNTY MAN GIVEN REVERSAL

TWO OTHER DEATH PENAL- TIES AFFIRMED BY COURT OF CRIMINAL APPEALS

AUSTIN, Nov. 23.—(P)—The court of criminal appeals today reversed and remanded death penalty verdict against W. R. Bradford, convicted in Austin county for the slaying of his sister, Mrs. May Dodd.

Mrs. Dodd was mortally wounded at the home of her mother on June 20, 1931. Bradford claimed a shot gun, used in the shooting, was accidentally discharged while he and his sister were scuffling over its possession.

The court affirmed two other death sentences when it overruled motions of appellants for rehearings. They were Hilton Bybee, Cottle county, charged with robbery of Ernest Slape, and Aaron Johnson, Waller county, convicted of the murder of his 18 months old baby by a common law wife, Perle Mae Johnson. The Johnson child was slain with a knife as a threat of Johnson that unless his wife became reconciled with him after a separation he would kill both her and the baby.

The Johnsons are negroes.

The Bradford case was sent back for retrial because the lower court erred in permitting the sheriff to testify to a statement the appellant's wife is alleged to have made to him with reference to things that happened prior to the homicide.

The appeals court reversed and remanded the conviction of Dock Brumblow in Tarrant county on a charge of robbing Fred Eidy, a checker of a bottling company, of $1,058 in money and $484 in checks on August 28, 1931. Improper refusal of the district attorney to failure of the defendant to testify and inadequate description of the checks in the indictment were given as grounds for reversal. Brumblow had been sentenced to ten years' imprisonment.

Conviction of Francisco Garza, Jesus Gomez and Dolores Maroquin on a charge of conspiracy to murder was affirmed. Sentences of ten years had been imposed. They allegedly conspired to murder Paula Cavazos Garza in Cameron county on Dec. 17, 1931.

In reversing and dismissing the conviction of J. H. Mearty in Polk county on a charge of taking fur-bearing animals in a steel trap, the appeals court held that the penalty provision of the statute under which he was convicted had been repealed by a subsequent act of the legislature. Mearty was convicted under chapter 355, which depended for its enforcement on penalties set out in chapter 24.

The opinion held that chapter 364, acts of the regular session of the 42nd legislature, repealed chapter 24, and left chapter 355 in force.

Relieves Women's Pains

Here is an example of how Cardul has helped thousands of women: "I was very thin and pale," writes Mrs. F. H. Scott, of Roanoke, Va. "I suffered from weakness and a severe pain in my back. This pain unrelieved me, and I did not feel like doing my work. I did not care to go to places, and felt worn, tired, day after day. "My mother had taken Cardul, and on seeing my condition she advised me to try it. I have never regretted doing so. I took three bottles and it built me up. I gained in weight, my color was better and the pain left my back. I am stronger than I had been in some time."

Cardul is sold by local druggists.

RAYMOND ROBINS; SOCIAL WORKER AND CLOSE FRIEND OF PRESIDENTS; IMPROVING

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Nov. 22.—(P)—"Reynolds Rogers," the strange character who appeared in a mountain village three months ago from "Kentucky way," was no more today.

In his place once again is Col. Raymond Robins, social worker and prohibition advocate, who, after insisting for three days he was "Rogers," recognized, his physicians said, his wife and his identity for the first time late yesterday.

A statement was issued by the family, appended by Dr. Mark A. Griffin, psychiatrist in charge of the case, that Robins' memory apparently is restored and that "he seems well on the way to normal headwork."

"Colonel Robins is still in need of rest and will not be disturbed," the statement added.

For two days Robins, whose disappearance September 3 created national mystery, had been under the care of a physician, wearing the heavy beard and overalls in which he had tramped the mountain.

House and even more in the New York governor's hotel suite—there emerged only one official statement. Issued from the White House with the approval of both Mr. Hoover and Mr. Roosevelt in 40 words, it read:

"The president and Governor Roosevelt traversed at length the subjects mentioned in their telegraphic communication. It is felt that progress has been made. The president confers with the members of congress tomorrow when the subject will be further pursued."

Thus it was officially announced that not only war debts but world armament and the projected world monetary economic conference had been gone over.

Similarly around the table of Mr. Roosevelt's hotel room the national mystery had been under the international field. The president-elect told his fellow Democratic allies he believed that with a sharp slash in the federal budget and the enactment of beer legislation in the approaching short session of congress, the budget could be balanced.

He said he hoped a farm relief program along the lines of his campaign addresses at Topeka and Sioux City, would be enacted, and listened to an expressed desire from several that a special session next year could be avoided.

Members of the family expressed joy at the "happy ending" of the case and Dr. Griffin said "I am happy to think that the crisis indicated the end of the trouble."

After remaining alone with his wife for an hour, Colonel Robins was shaved and discarded his overalls for a suit.

Robins will remain at the sanitarium, Appalachian Hall, until "he is fully rested and desirous of proceeding elsewhere," his family said. "No future plans of any sort have been decided upon."

Robins' disappearance September 3 gave rise to various reports, including some that he had been done away with by bootleggers because of his prohibition activities. After his first examination, Dr. Griffin said he was suffering from amnesia or a similar mental malady.

RAPID PROGRESS ON PAVING HIGHWAY 31 EASTWARD REPORTED

PRELIMINARY WORK HIGH- WAY 22 IS NEAR COMPLE- TION; BIDS BE ASKED

Progress is being made on the construction of Highway 31 and Highway 22 in Navarro county, and if inclement weather is not encountered, it is expected that the highway east from Corsicana will be completed about the first of 1933. M. L. Bowers, resident Texas highway engineer, stated Wednesday.

The F. P. McElwath construction company finished its contract on Highway 31 from Corsicana to the line of Consolidated road district No. 1 two miles east of Powell, Saturday. This 20-foot slab has been opened in some sections and will be open for traffic to the district line Dec. 3.

OPENING OF MONTE ALBAN TOMB SHOWS ANCIENT RACE ACCOMPLISHED IN PAINTING

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 22.—(P)—The romantic mystery of early America gathered new glamour today with the discovery that the ancient Zapotec tribe of Southern Mexico was accomplished in the highly civilized art of relief-painting in brilliant colors.

The discovery was made in a tomb on Monte Alban in Oaxaca State, the state which early this year yielded the richest archaeological find ever made on this continent.

Dr. Alfonso Caso, government archaeologist and his associates, announced the find last night as the most important discovery of all among the ten tombs they have revealed on Monte Alban.

Disappointing to the layman, Dr. Caso said, was the fact that none of the rich treasures of jewels and gold that have hitherto been found on Monte Alban were present in the bare tomb.

But careful exploration disclosed paintings on the floor and door jamb of the dust filled burial place, and this discovery was even more important to the scientists because it sheds light on the accomplishments of ancient tribes.

(Painting was known to the Indians who inhabited the Western plains of the United States, although of a crude sort. On the continent of South America, the rough painting of pottery was known. The central American tribes who succeeded the ancient Mayan empire knew "slip-painting," i. e. the slipping in of colored clay on the outside of pottery and outlining the slipped in portion with a contrasting color, but that art belonged to Ceramics).

Juan Valenzuela, one of Dr. Caso's assistants, discovered the tomb, and the exploration was done by Dr. Caso and Dr. Daniel De La Borbolla, anthropologist and graduate of Northwestern university.

Careful scraping showed the paintings were done in brilliant greens, reds and yellows. The work was in low relief, perhaps in clay pigments, and the colors were well preserved. It is not yet possible to say what was being depicted, or what significance the paintings may have beyond the knowledge of crafts.

Near the door was a beheaded skeleton, and in a corner was a heap of bones close by four large pottery dishes filled with an unidentified substance mixed with small animal bones resembling those of a dog.

There were also two dipper-like incense burners, two small translucent green axes, several ear ornaments, numerous jade bits, a bird skull and several hollow engraved bones.

Two Geologists Killed In Crash Plane at Wharton

WHARTON, Nov. 22.—(P)—An airplane crash here last night took the lives of two geologists, E. C. Templeton of Los Angeles, Calif., and W. G. Gallagher of Beaville, Tex. Templeton was killed almost instantly, but Gallagher lived until this morning, when he died in a Houston hospital.

C. F. Lienesch of Los Angeles, head of the aviation department of the Union Oil company of California, was injured. Lienesch and the two victims were members of a party which had been doing geological research in this section for the company.

The plane, attempting to land in the dark, crashed into a tree at airport here.
